Charge and Reimbursement Information for Health Care Consumers
Required by 2009 Wisconsin Act 146

The Wisconsin Act 146 seeks to make cost and charge information available to consumers. Health care providers are required to disclose upon request certain charge and payment information for health care services, tests and procedures.

This physicians' report is based on the 25 most common medical conditions (without complications) treated by physicians in Wisconsin. For each medical condition, the services, tests and procedures are listed that are most often charged by physicians.
